THE END OF AN ERA

With the close of the term, a number of persons will depart from our midst, which is quite the usual thing. Among those bidding farewell to the University of Alberta this spring is President Tory. This is altogether unusual, and quite a new departure. For the past twenty years, since the University was founded in fact, Dr. Tory has been at the helm. The results of his presidency speak for themselves. Probably no Canadian university has developed so rapidly in its first twenty years of life as this of our own, and it is generally recognized that this phenomenal growth has been largely due to the vigorous policy of the retiring president.

The pioneer work is done, and the institution well established. Most of us realize that piloting a provincial university over the first part of its course is not likely to be an easy task. Public opinion, and even provincial legislators, are not always in complete accord with the designs of educators, and these must be handled with care and skill, as everyone knows. There are those who doubt the wisdom of spending large sums of the public money on higher education, particularly in a young country. Whether these people are right or wrong they are decidedly noisy, and we have heard from them frequently.

In spite of a certain amount of opposition, the University of Alberta is today well up in line with the development of the province. The most frequent complaint of its detractors is that it is too well up and that it produces for export. At any rate we are safe in saying that it has not lagged behind, and it is enough that the President sees that the University marches. He cannot reasonably be expected to keep the province in line.

Perhaps the best we can wish Dr. Tory in parting is that he may be as successful hereafter as he has been while here.

LIKE SNOW UPON THE DESERTS

In a few days the class of 1928 will be well scattered over the map. For some little time they have grown in beauty side by side, and filled the halls with assorted noises. The probability is that they will never again foregather as an entire body. This is a saddening thought, and we should advise anyone who enjoys melancholy reflection to make the most of it; for nothing is more pleasant than a little sentimental sadness. According to an ancient proverb there's no use crying over spilt milk, and presumably the same applies to the spilling of "intellectual cream." But much that is pleasant in life is of no practical use, and we may as well enjoy our grief while we can.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We wish to acknowledge with thanks the assistance in the production of this issue which has been given by many graduating and other students who have been in Edmonton during the past few weeks. Without their work this paper could never have come out to bring, we trust, joy to most of our readers.

The Registrar and his staff have co-operated in every way with the examination results, which co-operation we sincerely appreciate, particularly since it involved considerable extra work.

GREEN AND GOLD

Observing the work of nature at this season one cannot avoid the reflection that our graduation exercises are singularly well-timed. World simultaneously with all other verdant things. All the characteristic appearance of the time are emblematic of hope, including the hopeful product of the University. Perhaps when our colours were chosen the persons who made the choice intended that they should be symbolic. We always name them in their proper order, green and gold. It is fitting that green, the colour of hope, should come first. Gold, doubtless, indicates the thing hoped for.

We may, of course, be entirely wrong in our interpretation, and it is possible that some will even think it a sordid one. Convocation speakers never suggest that we have spent our time here with the purpose of ultimately acquiring wealth, but stress the idea of service to humanity. They represent us to ourselves as a kind of human sacrifice. We have spent our weary years of alleged toil in order that the rest of the race may benefit, and so on. This is the line which ancient precedent has firmly established. Moreover, it is a strictly proper sermon. It would never do to tell a number of graduating students that they have equipped themselves with the means of financial advancement, though that may be considered desirable in a purely incidental way.

It is inspiring to the student who has taken in the requisite number of dances, games and academic courses to be assured that he has done it all for the good of his fellow-man. It puts him in a good humor with himself. Possibly he strains his memory a trifle in trying to recall his motive in registering for his first year. But on the whole, it does him good.

THE PASSING OF ART

An interesting variety of animal life is the senior student who is confident that he has passed his last set of final examinations. He fairly radiates benevolence, and even greets cordially the professor whose very name was anathema to him a few short weeks ago. He ambles around his haunts of the past few years, and his mere presence is a benediction. He greets his less favoured brethren with a beatific smile, and "blesses them unaware." Like the Ancient Mariner, he has got rid of something that he feels he has borne too long—something that was hung on him as a result of his own carelessness. But like the old salt aforesaid, having got rid of his burden, he is due soon to get his feet on hard earth again. Let us hope that when he does so he will prove as irresistible as Mr. Coleridge's hero, and that when he sees a prospect he will be able to fix it with his eye, or at any rate to fix it somehow to his own satisfaction.

N.B.—It was a merciful provision of Providence that "The Ancient Mariner" did not live in a time when he could sell life insurance.

WELCOME, CLASS TWENTY-EIGHT

"Alma Mater" signifies "benign mother" and an alumnus is a disciple. Students graduating May 15, 1928, may consider themselves, therefore, properly styled, "children of a benign mother." A very sentimental title, no doubt; but sometimes an apparent sentimentalism is really a very fine sentiment. Usually this is the case in the feeling with which a student regards his university. Whether the feeling is one of regard or dislike, it is a sincere expression uncontaminated by the various forms of affectation.

In the early days of universities expression of student regard very likely took the form of something like "Gaudemus".

"Vivat academia,
Vivat professores,
Semper sint in flore."

Today the crude undergraduate shouts, "Vars'ty, Vars'ty, raw, raw, raw!" and the student engineer informs the world with loud voice that beer is his favorite beverage. All of which is boisterous affection upon which the mother smiles benignly.

Though the feeling today is more crudely expressed than in the days of gowns and mortars, the sentiment is still there. It is true that the institution "University," has lost much of its personality through state control; but there is a host of other attachments which most graduates would be unwilling to lose: student friendships have been developed; in some cases there is respect and admiration for professors under whom students have worked; certain societies have received the best endeavors of leisure hours; and there is the probability of a continuing interest in the particular department of intellectual life in which training has been received.

By the very nature of things, these interests are sentimental, fundamentally the same as the remembrance of a favorite cat; but somewhat higher in tone, alumni are encouraged to think; and certainly more worthy of development. Many graduates are of the opinion that these attachments can be more easily fostered by membership in a society with a community of interests; hence the Alumni Association.

The Association provides an opportunity for the consolidation of graduate interest in the University of Alberta. The expression of that interest has often taken material form; more often the interest is implicit rather than expressed. In either form it is the force underlying the work of the Alumni Association, a work to which contemporary graduates are thus briefly but heartily welcomed.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

ROYAL BANK PRIZES

The Royal Bank of Canada offers, in the year 1928-29, prizes for the best essays submitted by Canadian students on economic subjects. The subjects for competition are:

1. The economic aspects of the St. Lawrence Waterways Plan.
2. The Coal Problem in Canada—a discussion of the relationship between the St. Lawrence Valley and the coal supplies of the East and West.
3. Sources of Federal Revenue and their relative merits.
4. A study of a particular Foreign Trade Area for the development of Canadian commerce.

Particulars may be obtained from Mr. Donald M. Marvin, Head Office of the Royal Bank, Montreal.

PEMBINA LIBRARY PRIZE

It was announced last week that Mae Massie, Arts '29, has won the $25.00 prize for the best design for a book plate for the Pembina Hall Library. The prize was offered by the Women's University Club of Edmonton and was open to all women students of the University.

Last fall the Club held a Book Shower in Pembina Hall to give nucleus to a library there for the use of the women students, and the book plate competition was held in connection with the same project.

STUDENTS' COUNCIL APPOINTMENTS

Since taking office, the Students' Council for 1928-29 has held several meetings and made many important appointments. Matt Halton has been appointed Editor-in-Chief of The Gateway, succeeding M. Wershof.

Bob Hill has been appointed Students' Union Accountant.

Max Wershof has been appointed Director of the Handbook for 1928.

Lyle Wyatt has been appointed Supervisor of Initiation.

Earl Bowser has been appointed Schedule Man.

Several Students' Court appointments have also been made: Puisse Judges, Matt Halton and Len Corrie; Union Prosecutor, Bruce Massie; Sheriff, Garfield Stewart; Clerk, E. Lando.

Students' Union Report

May, 1927.

This report is not an exhaustive summary of the year's happenings in student affairs, these being already familiar to our students. We are presenting a few observations and suggestions arising out of the year's activities.

Dr. Tory, President of the University since it was formed, will not be with us next year. The students are beginning to realize what Dr. Tory means to the institution—realize it better now that his resignation has been announced. They are beginning to understand the extent to which he has stamped his personality on the University. He has been the Honorary President of the Students' Union since its formation, and those of us who have been privileged to serve the Union in positions of responsibility know something of the time and energy Dr. Tory has spent in student affairs.

The students' organizations will miss you, Dr. Tory, and I assure you that you take the best wishes of the student body of the University of Alberta with you to your new work.

To estimate the year in a word, I would say that it has been one of unrest. There has been dissatisfaction—the students have not been satisfied with the University, with student officials, with forms and methods of government, and they have said so. It looks as though the students have a better understanding, however, of the University and their part in it so that constructive effort may now be expected. Next year will I think, be a strenuous and critical one, but if safely weathered should be followed by more congenial and safer ones.

A committee is now working on a revision of the Constitution. This will be an attempt to adapt the form of government to the new conditions that have arisen in the last few years, and will make for greater stability.

However, the system used in itself is a lifeless thing, and its success will depend upon those who operate it. The only suggestion that I have heard, and this has been one that has been mentioned on many occasions, for the improvement of the student body is that of raising the age of admission to the University. There is a difference between a university and a glorified high school. This and the full realization on the part of the students that their power is real and considerable will be sufficient, in my estimation, to assure harmonious student participation in government.

The Union did not function for a considerable portion of the year, not because of lack of business, but lack of quorums. In the end it did come through with flying colors, though, three meetings being held in less than a month.

The Council met regularly, and on many occasions was forced to action for which it had no constitutional justification. It may be that by another year the Council will be vested with sufficient power to make of it a governing body.

ATHLETICS

1927-28 has not been a red-letter one in sports. We haven't many championships for display. There was considerable apathy also in the matter of student participation in athletics. The response on the part of the students to the new rink was not all that its promoters expected.

In connection with the rink and hockey, I favor the spirit behind a resolution that was circulated amongst the students this winter. It urged the need of greater support of hockey. In view of the fact that our rink remains a liability until paid for, we might well stimulate interest and participation in hockey and skating. Manitoba's winning of the Allan Cup is also an incentive.

Mention should be made of the women's basketball team and its sweeping success in inter-varsity competition. It also furnished a prayer for the world's champion Commercial Grads. This is the first recorded instance of a student at the University of Alberta being a world's champion.

President Gibson, of the Men's Athletic Association, recommends a closer check-up of equipment in following years, and the exercise of greater care with respect to athletic supplies generally.

Miss F. MacMillan, President of the Women's Athletic Association, makes the following recommendations:

"That in view of the proportions swimming has assumed, a separate swimming club be organized under the Association, with a manager, and that if possible the annual meet be held earlier in the season than previously."

"That the Ladies' Track Club be represented at the Inter-Varsity Meet in Winnipeg next year. The track team is of very high calibre, and should certainly be given the chance to repeat their performance of this year, and every effort should be put forth so that this team may travel."

"That basketball and hockey be still regarded as the major sports. An intermediate basketball team should be organized so that players may work up from this to the senior team, and so that material for the seniors be drawn from it at any time."

"Now that we have our own rink, inter-faculty hockey for girls might well be started, for there is a distinct increase each year in the number playing hockey, and with the greater interest in this sport there should be a considerable improvement in the quality of the teams."

LITERARY ACTIVITIES

The Literary Association presented during the year most of the usual programme of events. An opera was not attempted this year in spite of its success last year. I believe that this was a wise curtailment of activities.

Mr. S. G. MacDonald, President of the Association, has the following to recommend:

"(1) That the Imperial Debates and N.F.C.U.S. Debates be deleted from the programme of the Debating Society for a year or two until such time as a greater demand be engendered, as at present such debates are clearly run at a financial loss."

"(2) That the activities of the Dramatic Society be curtailed to the extent that proper supervision be made of the choice of the annual spring play in order that when the material for a cast is ascertained it may be possible to choose a play that will be adaptable to the talents of those about to take part."

"(3) That the Glee Club, while of a very beneficial nature to a small number, should be deleted from the direct supervision of the Students' Union, as it does not warrant such an expenditure of money as has been given to it in the past, for it is not sufficiently universal in its benefits."

"(4) That the operation of the Orchestra should be fostered as it fills a very needed place here in the University, and particularly as an aid to the programmes of the Debating and Dramatic societies."

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

The Handbook for 1928 met with general approval.

The Gateway has made admirers and enemies in abundance this year. It has been critical and iconoclastic. Mr. Wershof, the retiring editor, has the following recommendations:

"(a) That, if registration increases materially during the next session, The Gateway should, after next session, become a bi-weekly publication, and that steps should be taken during the coming year to prepare for such a change. The advantages of the change, from a news standpoint, are obvious."

"(b) That the Students' Union seriously consider the granting of honorariums to, at least, the senior members of The Gateway staff. In my opinion, these positions have become, from a time standpoint, the most arduous within the Students' Union and they are becoming more so every year. Unless something in the way of honorariums are granted it will soon become very difficult to obtain qualified men to hold these offices."

"(c) That the Students' Council investigate the advisability of forming a Board of Publications in charge of all official student publications."

At this writing the Year Book, Evergreen and Gold, has not appeared.

WAUNEITA SOCIETY

The Wauneita Society reports a very successful year as far as their social functions are concerned. The Wauneitas are a self-governing body to a considerable degree, and the extent to which public criticism was resented this year illustrates this.

It is felt that there should be a change in the Wauneita Council, the judicial body of the Wauneita Society, namely, that the president of the Council be elected, as is the president of the Society, rather than appointed by the Executive. Other changes may be necessary.

There are several activities that do not come under any of these major departments. The Students' Court had a very light year. It is clearly apparent that the court needs revision. Its position is becoming anomalous, and I will pass no judgment at this time, but will leave its position and form to be determined by the Committee on the Constitution.

The arrangement of schedules caused some trouble this year. It is recommended that the Schedule Man interview the Provost and have a definite understanding before beginning his duties in the fall.

This year the supervision of initiation was taken over by the Students' Union, who passed a motion that a supervisor of initiation be appointed by the Council. Mr. Piper reports as follows:

"The Supervisor of Initiation of 1927-28 does not consider the system as tried last year a success. He admits that he believes more firmly in there being Freshman Rules and that they be adhered to strictly."

"The recommendation suggested is that 'foolish pranks' and dress be cut out, but that Freshman rules be applied more sternly than they were, even before 1927-28. 'There was not the co-operation between the supervisor and the Initiation Committee that was expected, maybe because there was not a great deal to discuss.'"

"The old Eastern idea that two or three upper classmen entertain a few freshmen a day or so after they arrive seems to me a good system—a senior adviser, as it were. Penitentes use this system, why not the men? A senior can do a lot of good for the new student in this way. Give him lots of hints, and no doubt a friendship will develop that will be profitable for both."

D. J. W. OKE,
President of the Students' Union, 1927-28.

Report of the Covered Rink

On December 1st, 1927, the new covered rink was officially opened. This marked the fulfillment of an important project; a project initiated by the students of the University and carried to completion by the co-operation of the Board of Governors and the Provincial Government. It now remains to give an account of the success or failure of the rink at the end of its first season's operation.

The main function of the rink is to give the students of the University facility for recreation and physical development at a minimum of expense and a maximum of convenience. In this respect the rink was an unqualified success. Staff and students enjoyed skating under first-class conditions and in pleasant surroundings. The rates were low, a student ticket for the season being $2.00. The management is pleased to report that a great number of the students and staff took advantage of this facility.

The more important amateur hockey games played in the city were played at the rink, and it was from these that the rink derived its chief source of revenue. Crowds as large as 1,500 were accommodated. A substantial profit is gained from senior amateur hockey; without this the rink would have difficulty in operating at a profit.

Eight University hockey teams made use of the rink during the winter—six men's teams and two women's teams. These teams were provided ice facilities to the extent of their requirements. In addition other unofficial hockey teams within the University were accommodated. The rates in all these cases were set at a low figure.

The management is pleased to report that the rink was at all times so operated that no reflection should be cast on the University. No difficulty was experienced in handling the large hockey crowds who at all times behaved in an orderly manner. Neither at the hockey games or at skating was any undesirable element allowed to creep in.

In the operation of the rink student labor was employed where possible. For example, over seven hundred dollars was paid out for music for skating, of which nearly all was paid to the members of the C. O. T. C. band. In case of other part-time employment students were employed exclusively, as in ticket selling, ushering, checking, etc.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Board of Governors is strongly advised that for future successful operation of the rink financially a car line must be brought within convenient distance. The rink depends for its financial support on the patronage of people outside the University. Much dissatisfaction was expressed by the public over the inconvenient location. On cold nights the hockey crowds are small and hardly meet expenses. Due to its location, the rink receives no patronage from skaters from other sections of the city.

An adequate road for heavy winter traffic is needed as well as a sidewalk.

When all returns are in it is expected that a small surplus on operating will be shown. A much larger profit could be made under different arrangements for skating. During the past season skating did not show a profit due to the low rates charged for the students. This is in harmony with our policy, however, which is to give the students as much as possible at a minimum of expense. Renting of the rink for hockey games and practices was profitable and more than offset the losses through skating.

C. A. EDWARDS,
Manager.
